

Preparing to Apply for Faculty Positions
Wednesday, August 13
12-1:15 p.m. McNeil 97

Career Services counselors will discuss the academic job search timetable, preparing written materials, identifying sources of job openings, obtaining recommendations, and getting ready for interviews.
(This workshop is similar to the one held in May.) Sign-ups not required. Feel free to bring your lunch.

Writing Your Statement of Teaching Philosophy
Monday, August 18
12:15-1:15 pm, Graduate Student Center, Room 305

Bruce Lenthall (Center for Teaching and Learning) and Jenny Furlong (Career Services) will discuss what makes a good statement of teaching philosophy, how to get started on your first draft, and how to improve anything you've already written. No sign-ups are required to attend.

To make an appointment to talk with a career counselor about your job search, please call 215 898-7530. Whoever answers the phone can schedule it. We are also willing to come to speak in your department.

More programs on the academic job market will be held in the fall. Our entire fall schedule of programs can be found at the following link:
